Easter Mail Away Edition

A despicable dog poisoner is at work again, this time in Hatton Fields. His latest victim is FERDIE PUFFER Frolich, beloved protege of Finn Frolich the sculptor. It is heart-breaking and horrible to realize that a human being could be so cruel and wicked as to poison a dear little wooly dog like FERDIE who never harmed anything in his life, and who brought so much pleasure to everyone who knew him.

Local Boy Makes Good!

TSCHAIKOVSKY Cochran is making a temendous hit in the East in the play "My Sister Eileen." He is on tour with a stock company with his master and mistress, Steve and Florence Cochran. Right now they are playing in Detroit, and TSCHAIKOVSKY steals the show every night. He has any number of fans who come to the stage door after the show to meet him. His fans also recognize him on the street and in restaurants and deluge him with requests for his pawograph.

The other night after the show TSCHAIKOVSKY and Steve and Florence went to a restaurant to get a bite to eat. An admiring fan recognized the canine celebrity and sent him over an order of roast beef—so while Steve and Florence munched ham sandwiches, TSCHAIKOVSKY gorged himself on the roast beef. Another fan saw him eating the roast beef and sent him over a second order of roast beef. And so on, far into the night.

DASH Sharp certainly enjoys being a "City Slicker." For a long time DASH has lived way down the coast at Bixby Creek, with his mistress, Mrs. Freida Sharp, who recently moved to Carmel and brought DASH. After the wild and rugged country around his former home, all the people and bright lights and sidewalks of Ocean Avenue seem like real "city stuff" to DASH. He gets quite a kick out of all it. He is having a gay time, too, flirting with the village belles and talking things over on the corner with the boys. But there are times, especially on week-ends, when the hustle and bustle of the Village makes him yearn for the quiet solitude of Bixby Creek.

The Army set is welcoming two newcomers, TUCKER Hartwing, and DOONA Salet.

The dashing TUCKER is a Cocker belonging to Captain and Mrs. Hartwing, and is famous for his charming manners and his sense of humor and his big brown eyes. These assets, plus a Charles Boyer finesse at turning a pretty compliment, make TUCKER a popular and much sought after young man where ever he goes.

DOONA is a bonny, but rather reserved, Scotch lass. She doesn't care much about running around or going to the night spots; she would rather stay at home and work in the garden, or read a good book. She has that rare combination of beauty and brains, and no doubt will be a delightful addition to the canine intelligencia.

One of the handsomest young gentlemen - about - town is BUDDAH Nielson, whose stunning auburn hair is the envy of his less favored friends. BUDDAH takes great care of his hair. Every week his master, Clines Nielson, gives him a special shampoo, dries him by hand, and then combs and brushes him until his hair gleams with copper lights. Then BUDDAH proudly trots about the Village calling on his friends so that they can see what a very handsome fellow he is. And they all agree that BUDDAH is a thing of beauty and a joy to behold. Yes indeed!

HEIDIE MacDaniel, the well-known San Francisco playgirl, wants a home in the country, preferably in Carmel which she loves, for the summer. She wants lots of exercise, fresh air, and a change of scenery. She wants some one to adopt her who will take care of her in the style to which she is accustomed. She wants care, companionship, love, a wide variety of food, and lots of it. HEIDIE is a St. Bernard, very beautiful, gentle, intelligent, and friendly, and it costs $15 to $20 a month to keep her in good condition. She would like to have anyone interested in adopting her write for further details to her master, Clay MacDaniel, 1729 Vallejo street, San Francisco.

How Does Your Garden Grow?

By EDITH H. BRATTIN

March is the gardener's busy month, with feeding, seed sowing, taking cuttings planting summer bulbs and tubers, dividing perennials, top dressing the lawn, weeding, baiting for snails and slugs and spraying, all needing attention now.

Heading the list and most important of all is spring feeding. Winter rains upon sandy soil mean that a good deal of food has been washed down and out, the sandier your soil, the more important and necessary the spring feeding.

Lawns are hungry now and should have a top dressing of screened compost and complete commercial fertilizer. A layer of well pulverized or screened barnyard fertilizer may be used (if you don't mind weeding).

March and April are the best months to sow new lawns. Remember the three most important items are rich soil, a good smooth surface and seed sown evenly and not too thick.

Tuberous begonias are one of the summer standbys and can be planted now. The soil should be light, a good mixture would be two parts oak leaf mold, one part good loam, one part well rotted fertilizer and sand. Plant the tubers just barely under the surface, water sparingly until the actual leaf growth starts.

If you are a Victory gardener, plan your vegetable garden. To have a crop coming along all the year around takes very careful consideration. To get the best results study crop rotation and intercropping. One well planned bed can take care of a good many vegetables throughout the year, with a saving of fertilizer. Here are a few pointers:

Speaking very generally, vegetables may be classed in three groups:

1—Leaf and stem crops. This group needs very rich soil. Potatoes, celery, onions, lettuce, endive, chard and rhubarb.

2—Flowers and fruit crops. A medium rich soil is required. Tomatoes, peas, beans, squash and cucumbers.

3. Root crops. A medium rich, light soil. Carrots, beets, turnips, parsnips.

Unless you refertilize the bed, do not plant Group 1 after Group 1—but use them in this order, as example: spring lettuce, summer squash and winter carrots. The exception to this plan is in the case of peas and beans which, because they leave nitrogen in the soil, may again be followed by Group 1.

Gregor Piatigorsky, Famous Cellist, Plays In Carmel in April

Gregor Piatigorsky, recognized as the world's greatest cellist, plays in the Sunset School Auditorium, Carmel, on Saturday evening, April 18, presented by the Carmel Music Society as the concluding concert of their season.

If privations, sufferings, adventure and romance help to make an artist, Piatigorsky has well earned his title of "greatest," for the Russian cellist has run the full gamut of rise from poverty and danger to success.

During the Russian revolution, when his life was in momentary danger, the musician was smuggled out of Russia into Poland, but not before he had been robbed of every ruble and of most of his clothing. He managed to reach Warsaw and had the final good fortune of substituting at the opera for a cellist who had become ill. His playing at once brought him fame, and he was offered an American tour. This Piatigorsky refused, desiring to perfect himself further before playing for the American public.

Reaching Berlin, he walked about the street half starved, playing in coffee houses and motion picture places to eke out a miserable living. Then one day the pianist, Artur Schnabel, heard him, and through the great Schnabel the attention of Furtwaengler, conductor of the Berlin Philharmonic, was called to the young Russian cellist, and before Gregor knew it, he was heading the cello section of the Berlin Orchestra.

From then on his rise was meteoric. Engagements from all over Europe were offered him, and when he was twenty-six he made his first American tour. Since that time Piatigorsky has gained in fame and reputation until his name has become a legend for great cello playing.

Army Likes Carmel; Plans on Settling Here After War

Carmel has been discussing the effects of the Army on village life for over a year, now a real estate broker, Mrs. Gladys Johnston, reports the effect of village life on the Army.

"Army families have proved to be the kind of people Carmel wants," she finds. "And they love Carmel. Many have decided to make their homes here after the war and are buying property now."

Merchants Doing Their Share for Civilian Defense

The merchants are carrying their load in the civilian defense effort according to the facts unearthed in a census conducted last week by the Community Information Bureau.

Miss Marcia Haskell, in the absence of Barbara Norburg, took around the Closed on Good Friday signs to the members of the business association, and checked on each place of business as to the number on the staff who were actively engaged in defense work.

She found that out of thirty-five places visited only two did not have at least one representative in civilian defense work. In both cases circumstances justified the lack of participation.

The census was made on the request of the Civilian Defense organization.

Storm, Surprises Liven Scout Trip; Explorers Back

"Caves!"

But there was a cave, in the mountain side near Pine Valley, and big enough to hold the 17 boys of the troop and their masters, Lloyd Miller and Robert Doerr.

They built a fire, warmed themselves, cooked and ate while "the storm raged and water rushed in torrents down the mountain."

Toward evening a wind cleared

Library Open Now Until Nine o'Clock

At a joint meeting at the Harrison Memorial Library of the library board and the city council with Mayor Evans as head of the Civilian Defense, the question of keeping the library open after dusk was thoroughly discussed.

It was agreed that the board should revert to the library's former hours, 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., and that Civilian Defense should provide an auxiliary policeman to be on hand to assist patrons of the library to the basement in case of a blackout and to take charge of the blackout.

A definite ruling was made that everyone should remain in the building if there is a blackout warning, and should immediately go down to the basement to await the "all clear." All patrons should acquaint themselves with this basement in case of any such eventuality.

The library reverts to its former schedule on Monday. It will continue to keep open Sunday afternoon for the present.

The Rev. Carel J. Hulsewe, Father Michael O'Connell and the Rev. James E. Crowther have each written an Easter letter for The Pine Cone. They will be found on the editorial page.

No Fingerprints? Excursion Is Out For Fifth Graders

The fifth grade has been studying aviation for some time, and looked forward to making the trip to a real airport to see some of the things they had been studying about. All the necessary arrangements had been made, only to be cancelled the day before because military regulations make it necessary to keep as many people away from the airport as possible. Even though they were deeply disappointed, this is how the children look at it:

The Trip That Wasn't Taken

For the past two weeks, we children in the fifth grade have been planning to take a trip to the Monterey Municipal Airport. We decided to go Wednesday. At last Wednesday came, and we were to take "the trip that wasn't taken." We learned we couldn't go without having all our birth certificates with us, and have our finger prints taken. There is also the danger that we might give out military secrets to the enemy without knowing it. It's a sad fact that we can't go, but it is better for all of us. We do our part for America.

—Edward Seifert, Grade 5.

Carmel Tire Board Combined With Peninsula Group

The tire rationing board has been discontinued in Carmel, Mrs. Perry Newberry, chairman, stated Thursday.

Carmel people wanting tires will have to appear before the board meeting in Monterey at Colton Hall, Friday mornings from 9 to 12.

Pacific Grove, Monterey, East Monterey and Carmel have been combined into one board for greater economy and efficiency. Representatives from the former boards make up the new combined body, and Mrs. Perry Newberry, chairman of the Carmel board, is the Carmel representative.

During the past month the Carmel board has granted permits to Joe Victorine, Guy Satterfield, W. H. Raymond, Earl Wermuth, George Wishart, Dr. Gordon Skeoch, James Perry and Dominick De Sante.

Lew Earle Is Too Much Ball Player for Pop;

It is not the "election cropping out in him" as some Dolores street wits are insisting, that has put Councilman-candidate P. A. McCreery on crutches.

He tore a ligament and pulled out a cartilage in his left knee while playing catch several days ago with young son, Lew Earle.

THE MAN WE CAN COLLAR

There are a number of reasons why The Pine Cone is backing Fred McIndoe for city council. The first of them is that you can find him when you want him.

The management of big city, state and national affairs is of necessity far removed from Joe and Mary voter, and they have learned not to expect to have an active part in such government. But the glory and the headache of small town government is that it can be direct, so that Joe and Mary can walk up to the man who represents them on the council and say:

"I don't like this and that. I think something should be done about it. Now here's my idea—"

Follows a half-baked notion—or maybe a practical suggestion. In any case, Joe and Mary have had a chance to put their fingers in government pie. They are exercising their right to govern themselves, and only in a small town can they exercise that right so fully.

However, the advantage of direct government in a small governing body is lost if the voter has to spend three weeks looking for his representative, and then ends with having to write him a letter. No matter how efficient, or personally likeable a councilman may be, if he is off duck hunting, cultivating vegetables up the valley, or attending a convention at Palm Springs every time the voter wants to get in touch with him, he is not a good man for a small town council. The man for the council is the man you can collar any time of the day to listen to your peeve.

Fred McIndoe is in his store on Dolores street every day, all day, working at making his business pay like the rest of us. If you elect him councilman, when you want to see him, all you will have to do is stop by on your way home from the post office and say:

"Look here, Fred, I have such and such on my mind. Can you do something about it?"

Democratic government isn't easily come by. It's still harder to keep. And even in our own democratic country it seldom has a chance to function completely. Here in this small town circumstances are such that we can make it function if we take care in choosing our representatives. Let's not miss our chance.

Vegetables and Politics Meet At Girl Scout Garden Ceremony

Girl Scouts from all Carmel troops and from the Brownie pack turned up promptly at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon to take part in the first weeding ceremony on their model Victory garden-to-be at Sixth and Mission with a councilman candidate for re-election on hand to break ground officially. The mayor had been asked to preside over the shovel, but was unable to attend.

The ground is all ready now so that next week they will plant the first seeds. The girls could still use many more tools and if anyone has them to give or lend please—

Since the Boy Scout Wolf Cubs are toying with the idea of helping the girls cultivate their garden, they sent a representative, Arthur Harber, to the ground breaking.

Scout leaders who attended included Mrs. Lloyd Miller, Skipper Ackroyd, chairman of the war services committee which sponsors the Victory garden, Mrs. E. H. Brattin, gardening adviser, Mrs. Robert Doerr, and Miss Marie von Kanel.

Weeds Yanked

Scouts on hand to uproot their share of milkweeds were, from Mrs. Miller's Troop 2, Ann Bates, Mary Jean Elliott, Ann Hodgson, Alice Morehouse, Janet Strasburger and Susan Walters.

Katherine Kollmer represented Troop 4 which is led by Miss Joan Tait and Mrs. John Thompson, while Mrs. Kalmen Sapero and Miss Edith M. Fonteneau's Troop 10 sent Becky Bell, Jacqueline

Ballots Ready Now For Absent Voters

Absentee ballots are now available for city election to be held April 14, according to City Clerk Saidee Van Brower.

Any Carmel citizen who will be away from home on election day should send or bring a written application to the office of the city clerk for an absentee ballot. He can vote in the presence of the city clerk or a notary in the city in which he may be, and mail his ballot in to Saidee Van Brower.

Applications for absentee ballots will be accepted until midnight, April 9.

Morton Recital Brings Delight To Song Lovers

By NOEL SULLIVAN

It would be difficult to imagine a setting more ideal for an intimate Lieder-Abend recital than the Playhouse which was filled to capacity Thursday evening, March 26, when Rachel Morton, internationally acclaimed soprano, and now a resident of this community, gave her second annual concert.

The music of Schubert set the keynote of the program. It was an act of consecration and gratitude to the holy art which re-creates in its own idiom the experiences and aspirations of life. The second song, Schumann's "Sandman," brought us back to the vanished days of carefree childhood, and in turn, Rubinstein, Brahms and Wolf reported respectively the enchantment, the domination and the faithlessness of love. "Spring" of Hildach restated with finality the resurrection that stirs throughout the world at this time

Edith Brattin Garden Column Starts Today

The Pine Cone announces a new feature beginning this issue, How Does Your Garden Grow, a column of information on how to raise flowers and vegetables, by a garden expert who is familiar with the vagaries of the local soil and climate from several years of professional gardening experience here in Carmel.

Edith Brattin, daughter of the Petaluma nurseryman, was raised in an environment of planting, growing and pruning. She rounded off her early education acquired at home by attending, and being graduated from, the California School of Gardening on the Stanford Campus.

She has lived in Carmel six years, actively following her profession, garden designing, which is not limited to planning and laying out new gardens, but carries on the work to the handling of plant materials scheduled to produce continuous flushes of bloom.

She is also well versed in the problems of raising vegetables, a subject that should be popular now that so many are interested in growing defense gardens.

In her first column, appearing in this issue, she tells what to do this month in the garden. Her advice and suggestions on how to make a success of home gardening will continue to appear weekly in The Pine Cone.

Abalone League Ball Tightens Up Sunday; Teams Neck-and-neck

The Carmel Abalone League is developing into a neck and neck race with none of the teams showing a marked superiority over the other.

Last Sunday on the Carmel High School diamond the Balazs led Tigers defeated Knight's Pilots to the tune of 12 to 1, and Hap Hasty's Shamrocks enjoyed an Irish field day at the expense of Rountree's Giants, 12 to 11. Both contests were run off in fast time, and some of the fielding and hitting reminded the old timers of the good old days.

Young Jimmy Kelsey pitched superb ball for the Tigers and, barring the hard hitting of Noel Henderson, had the Pilots at his mercy. Scintillating field efforts by Brewer, Selix and Laystrom further enhanced Kelsey's pitching.

In the final game of the afternoon the Shamrocks outlasted the Giants and caught them at the wire. This was a close game throughout, and it took all the Shamrocks' waning resources to push in the winning run in the extra inning.

There will be no Abalone League games on Easter Sunday, but the equipment will be available for those desiring to practice or play an informal game on April 12th—the Giants vs. Pilots in the first game—Shamrocks vs. Tigers in the second.

Mexican Travel Movies Planned For Gallery Open House Tonight

Carmel's recrudescing Art Gallery will again be open for a "Friday evening" tonight at 8.

Last Friday it housed a program of record music. Twenty-five artists, members of the Music Society, soldiers, ordinary Carmelites and Valley dwellers, heard a varied selection of chamber music chosen by Mrs. Clines Nielson from the work of Mozart, Haydn, Schubert, Debussy and Ravel. The audience expressed such warm appreciation that Elizabeth Cass hopes to hold another such program.

Mrs. Cass announces that the special program for next Friday evening will be presented by an artist member of the Art Association, Alvin Beller. He will show the colored films he made on travels through Canada and Mexico.

Tonight paintings, sculpture and photographs will bid for the undivided attention of guests at the Gallery. And again all are invited to drop in — in informal dress, formals or slacks.

One of the especially interesting features of the Gallery's evenings is the presence each Friday of a representative group of Carmel artists. Elwood Graham, Barbara Stevenson, Alvin Beller, Carol Steinbeck, Johan Hagemeyer were among the artists who attended last week.

Lester Donahue, Pianist, Will Be Here in Concert

Lester Donahue, internationally known pianist, will be presented by Kit Whitman at the Carmel Playhouse on Sunday evening, April 12.

Mr. Donahue is well known on the Peninsula as he is a frequent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Fish of the Highlands. Mr. Donahue was heard some years ago in the Carmel Music Society series.

Included in the list of sponsors for the Lester Donahue concert will be Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Fish, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Potter Russell, Mr. Noel Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Haldorn, Mrs. Grace Parsons Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Jeffers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. William Burnham, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Flavin.

Mr. Donahue was born in Los Angeles and it was after Paderewski heard him, and on his advice, that he started a professional career. Since then he has studied in Berlin with Rudolph Ganz and has appeared in concert in all the European capitals. One of his most outstanding performances was given when he was heard as soloist with the Los Angeles, Detroit and St. Louis and Philadelphia orchestra, with Leopold Stokowski conducting.

All in all it will be a musical event. The time, the 12th of April at the Carmel Playhouse. Kit Whitman will present Mr. Donahue.

Local Boy Scouts Pick Fremont for Summer Camporee

Ninth annual camporee of the Monterey bay area Boy Scout council will be held this year Saturday and Sunday, April 25, 26, at Fremont Peak State Park, San Benito county, with troops from the counties of Monterey, San Benito and Santa Cruz attending. The camp will be climaxed with scout participation in the annual Fremont Peak flag ceremony at noon on Sunday. It was here that General Fremont first raised the American flag in 1846.

The program will include opportunity for all attending to carry out their religious obligations, both Catholic and Protestant. Featured will be chances for scouts to qualify for certain requirements of the emergency service corps, and each troop is being asked to present an emergency service demonstration. The council will provide a staff of experts for the purpose of coaching, assisting, and supporting the chartered troop officers to carry on camping through their own troop and patrol organization.

Frank Grantham, Pacific Grove, chairman of the council's camping and activities committee, explained that a camporee is a program of camping overnight one or more days by troops, organized on a patrol basis, under a troop's own adult and boy leadership, and by means of which scouts demonstrate their ability to camp and take part in scouting projects. The troops, through their patrols, qualify for an agreed standard of proficiency instead of competing against each other.

Ed Pearce, San Juan, will be camporee director; Clyde Dalbey, Watsonville, director of campcraft; Ralph Nabors, Hollister, director of activities; E. Wentworth, Hollister, chief observer; Fred Flocberg, Watsonville, chief clerk and scorer; W. R. Snyder, Hollister, director of health and safety. Other scout leaders from Carmel, Pacific Grove, Monterey, Salinas, Gabilan, San Benito, Watsonville and Santa Cruz districts will assist this group.

Storm, Surprises Liven Trip; Explorers Back

the sky, and the explorers moved out, for the rocky floor of the cave was too jagged to make a good sleeping surface.

They had a good night's sleep on the soft ground, but woke to find their sleeping bags covered with ice and their shoes frozen.

Most difficult feat of the expedition proved to be getting up that morning. The walk back 13 miles to Jamesburg was especially brisk.

At Jamesburg they were met by a Carmel city truck which brought them home Wednesday evening.

Brownie Was Tired

Of the lot, Brownie, Mr. Miller's inquisitive dog which made the mistake of covering twice the distance the Scouts did, was the one who really looked tired.

The boys who went along were Martin Katz, Bob Bell, Bud Yerkes, Henry Molteni, Bill Askew, Jr., Brad Walker, Henry Shepard, Tommy Bates, Jimmy Allen, Victor Harber, David Hudson, Don Burge, Tom Hefling, Bobby Johnson and Ray Wermuth. All are members of Troop 39.

Mr. Doerr brought the movie camera along with him, and during the trip had shown Martin how to work it. Needless to say, Martin had enjoyed this no end.

Wednesday, April Fool's Day, was Martin's thirteenth birthday, and Mr. Doerr gave him the camera as a present. It turned out to be a surprise, arranged last week by Martin's mother, Mrs. Anna Katz.

The movie sequence taken following the presentation is especially long and full of action because it pictures 13 spanks being given Martin by each of 14 Scouts.

Carmel Man Returned From Japan Warns That Japs Will Not Suffer Oil Shortage For Years To Come

George C. Dear of Hatton road knows a great deal about Japan, in fact, unlike the professional commentators, he knows so much that he knows how much he and all other white men don't know.

Mr. Dear left Japan only last August after 18 years. He represented a large American oil company there.

"People, who say the Japanese may run out of oil before they get Java and Borneo wells in working order, are somewhat wide of the mark," said Mr. Dear. "Japan must have ample reserves of oil, no one can say how large. She has her own oil wells in northern Japan and on the island of Sahkalin and also in Manchukuo. The production of these wells for many years has been monopolized by the naval and military authorities in addition to special imports they have obtained from the United States and the Dutch East Indies."

This margin need only suffice for eight months anyway because within that time the Japanese will have re-harnessed oil sources in the south Pacific.

Invasion Plan No. 1

Mr. Dear believes that Japan will attempt to invade the Western Hemisphere, provided her plans in the south Pacific materialize, and that she will most probably proceed according to Life Magazine's Plan No. 1, namely, through Kamchatka, the Aleutian Islands and Alaska. He thinks however, that the United States, Australia, China and Russia will stop her some place along the line.

The kidnaping of Chiang Kai-Shek by Chinese communits a few years ago may have sounded in the newspapers like a bandit comic strip but it will, in Mr. Dear's opinion, help to shape American history.

At the time of the kidnaping, Chiang was fighting the Chinese communists rather than concentrating on the Japanese.

U. S. Grateful to Kidnaping

The communists and anti-civil war troops captured Chiang and held him prisoner until he promised them to get to work seriously on the Japanese. In exchange for this promise, the large communist armies joined Chiang, and this unified China has been able to hold out against the Japanese. If that famous kidnaping had not taken place, the United Nationals might now be short of their biggest ally.

An Englishman, Mr. Dear is much pleased with the appointment of Sir Stafford Cripps to the British cabinet. If Cripps had held such a post in 1939, Mr. Dear believes that Russia would have signed a pact with England instead of Germany. As it was, Russia distrusted both Germany and the Chamberlain government. She signed with Germany because she was not in a position then to fight Germany alone.

Cripps is intelligent and a realist and we don't need to expect wrong guesses from him.

Mr. Dear golfs, and his wife, Mildred, knits while waiting here for Mr. Dear's next assignment. With them is their big yellow dog, Jim, a Japanese Tosa-inu. Although the Japanese government was making deep inroads in the dog population last year to use their skins for soldiers' caps and mittens, the Dears managed to keep Jim safely at home. They all left Japan on a six months' furlough four months before war began. They expect to stay in Carmel until Mr. Dear can get into the draft.

Sunset School News

On Friday, March 27, the Easter edition of the Sunset Glow was given to the children. The "Glow", our school paper, consists of news, poems, stories and jokes. Bill Laystrom, a seventh grade boy, made the attractive cover.

—Stephen Brooks, Grade 6.

Last Wednesday we had an air raid drill. We are going to keep in practice. Several times each week we discuss what to do in case of an air raid. The children who sit near the windows pull up the blinds while the rest of us push our desks to the center of the room and get under them.

—Shirley Petty, Grade 6.

Peggy Riker, Rod Dewar, Owen Greenan and Sunny Cook went to Mrs. Jordan's class room to give their reports on the Greeks. Rod and Owen told about Athens and Peggy and Sunny told about the drama and literature of the Greeks.

—Peter Carpenter, Grade 6.

On Wednesday, March 25, Sunset Schoo was dismissed fifteen minutes early. The children took the most direct route home, stopping at all the houses with C. D. signs in the windows. We registered with the persons at the homes. They gave us slips of paper for our mothers to sign. We brought them back to school the next day. Only two people in our room found no places to stop.

—Marjorie Glennon, Grade 5.

Mrs. Jordan has a Spanish class for some of the children of Sunset School. We have only had three lessons but we can say a few words. When we learn to speak Spanish better we will be able to talk to each other and we will have readers. When we come into the room, Mrs. Jordan calls the roll. We answer in Spanish. We have a picture of a little Mexican boy named Rolito. We are going to hear a story about him soon. Adios.

—Mary Louise Lodmell, Grade 5.

Second Grade Plans For Easter Vacation

Ramona Relyea—I am going to Geyserville to visit my aunt. She lives on a farm.

Carol Ann Glover—I am going to visit my aunt at Seaside. I am going to take my skates along and skate on the cement.

Gordon Stockhammer—My mother and father and I are going to Big Sur for the week end.

Betty Jean DeAmaral—My cousin is coming down to have Easter with us. He is coming Saturday. I haven't seen him for a year.

Aline Muses—Easter Sunday we are going to have an Easter egg hunt. Then we are going up to the Cachagua for a picnic lunch. My mother is coming down for Easter.

Laurie Dorcy—I am going to ski in the snow at the Sugar Bowl. I am going to be in a pick-up race. Packages are tied to the side of a snow plough. Children come by on skis and pick them up. Last year my sister got a money purse, and I got yellow shoe laces for my ski boots.

Army of Women Receive Awards From Red Cross

An army in white, yellow and soft gray uniforms, scores of Carmel women and several men were certified as trained Red Cross workers Sunday in exercises at Sunset Auditorium.

Five hundred attended to see Dr. G. H. Taubles present certificates to advanced First Aiders, the Gray Ladies, the Motor Corps, Staff Assistance Corps, Surgical Dressings Unit and to witness the effective ceremony of "capping" the Nurses Aides. Miss Kay Smits, superintendent of the Peninsula Community Hospital, placed the caps signifying training and skill on the heads of Mrs. M. M. Brooks, Barbara and Sue Brooks, Miss Kathrene Bier, Maud Carroll, Mrs. Janice Durney, Mrs. Mary Geisting, Madeline Higley, Mrs. Betty Berry, Mrs. Elizabeth Pilling, Mrs. T. B. Wison and Miss Carolita Splane.

MacArthur Unveiled

A portrait of General Douglas MacArthur, draped with the Stars and Stripes and the Philippine flag, was unveiled and presented to the Fort Ord Station Hospital by the Gray Ladies of the Carmel Red Cross and accepted for the Fort by Private Tickner. The painting is the work of Florence Lockwood of Carmel and will hang permanently at the hospital. The Philippine flag which graced it Sunday was lent by Mrs. Caridad Gonzales, acting for the Monterey Peninsula Filipino Community.

The patriotic musical background was provided by the Carmel High School orchestra, led by Alfred Bartlett, and color bearers and ushers also came from the ranks of the Carmel High School Junior Red Cross. They included Rosemary Powell and Eleanor Hart, color bearers, and Beverly Douglas, Lila Whittaker, Laura Lee Koepp, Dorothy Ottmar and Barbara Timmins, ushers.

Salinas J. C. Picked to Train Students For Navy Reserve

The Salinas Junior College, Salinas, California, has been designated as accredited college by the Navy Department, Bureau of Navigation, with a view to further expansion of procurement and training of prospective Naval Reserve Officers. The Secretary of the Navy has approved the enlistment in the Naval Reserve of young men enrolled in accredited colleges who, after enlistment in the Naval Reserve, may continue college at their own expense and, in addition, be given naval training in an inactive naval status.

Applicants for enlistment in the Class V-1 (Accredited College Program) must be unmarried male citizens of the United States, not less than seventeen and under twenty years of age as of date of enlistment, except that applicants may be enlisted who have reached their twentieth birthday not more than sixty days prior to completion of their sophomore year. Juniors and senios are not eligible for the Class V-1. Applicants must be enrolled in an accredited college, university or junior college, pursuing a course leading to a Baccalaureate Degree. To be eligible for enlistment applicants must furnish a certificate from the registrar of the school attended, stating that the applicant is a duly registered full time student in good standing.

Men enisted under this program will be allowed to continue in college on inactive duty until completion of their sophomore year. At that time, those men who request flight training in Class V-5 and who are found in all respects qualified, including aptitude for the service, will be transferred to Class V-5, Naval Reserve, for flight training leading to appointment as an Ensign-Aviation, USNR. Those men who request officer training in the Class V-7 and who are found in all respects quaified, including aptitude for the service, will be transferred to the Class V-7 and will be permitted to continue in college to obtain their Baccalaureate Degree with their respective classes, then will be ordered to an indoctrination center preparatory to appointment as a Reserve Midshipman.

Students enrolled in accredited colleges desiring to enlist in the Class V-1 (Accredited College Program) should apply to the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, National Guard Armory, Salinas, California. The recruiting station is open on week days from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and on Sundays from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

REDDY, ABEL and WILLIE

With the first robin every sandlot becomes a diamond in the rough. Every Reddy, Abel and Willie in the neighborhood grabs a bat and starts filling the sky with clouts.

But there is another sign of the gay season.

There is something else besides kids playing their hit-and-run game that shows winter is on the way out. And that is:

America turns lightly to thoughts of new automobiles.

We always have liked to get rid of winter woolens and the old car at the same time.

However, this habit is not going to be quite so annual as it was. At long last cars will have to last long.

So the best thing to do is to do the best thing:

Take your rare and priceless vehicle into a Shell Dealer or Shell Service Station for particular attention.

Drive in at the Sign of the Shell at least every 100 miles for free Thoro-Fast service.

You can have a new car this spring—all you have to do is keep your present one that way.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Easter recess, this week, sees the return of many former Carmel High School students for the vacation. Regrettably it also marks the permanent departure of three popular students.

Most noteworthy of the returning students are Jason Harbart and Lucretia Royce. Jason and Lucretia both left school only a few months ago. Jason Harbart now is "studying" at San Mateo. Lucretia Royce now resides in Altadena.

The three students leaving our campus are Gordy Miyamoto, Nancy and Marjory Street. The Street girls are leaving this week for Reno, where they are going to live in the future. We will all miss reading Nancy's humorous and serious poems in El Padre. Marjory has been an excellent student with a very good schoarship record.

With Miyamoto, Carmel loses an ace athlete and good musician. Our farewell to Gordy was put in this simple statement from the office:

"Our good wishes go with Gordy Miyamoto who will be eaving Saturday for central California. The Miyamoto boys, through their fine sportsmanship and attitude, have been a credit to our community."

Have you been to one of the Student Court hearings at the Carmel High School? We at high school find it very interesting. You will, too. The hearings are held Monday and Thursday noons in room 9.

During the school week ending March 27, the Student Court tried 13 cases. Out of these 9 were heard on March 26 and 4 on March 27.

The first hearing—the one on the 26th—gave the heaviest sentence of the week: one hour detention plus a five hundred word composition, and the lightest sentence: fifteen minutes detention. On this day the jurors were Henrieta Erickson, Lila Whitaker and Arnold Pilling.

The second hearing was really a continuation of the first. This day, out of the four cases tried, three pleas were not guilty. Two of these were found not guilty. This day, the jury consisted of DeWitt Appleton, Henrieta Erickson and Arnold Pilling.

Remember, we want to see you at the next hearing of the court on Monday, April 6.

Buy a defense stamp. That is the plea made to every Carmel High School student during first period Wednesdays. Yes, Carmel High now has a regular Defense Stamp Day.

The new program for the sale of defense stamps is under the leadership of Edith Cox, a good executive and a popular senior girl. The publicity manager for this drive is Bill Monroe. Edith Cox also has many able assistants, who actually sell the stamps. They are Ruth Burrows, Rose Gossler, Ann Hodgson, Howard Jones, Tiny Johnston, Irene Erickson, Martina Tait and Katherine De Loe.

The sale of stamps was started by the Student Body appropriation, on March 3, of twenty dollars to buy Defense Stamps to get the program rolling. We feel it has gotten under way satisfactorily.

The first day, March 11, fifteen dollars worth of Victory Stamps were sold at High School. On Wednesday, March 18, another fifteen dollars went to our national war effort. Last week the students brought eight and one-half dollars to speed our nation's victory.

We at high school have a suggestion for you parents. Why don't you add an extra dollar to your son's or daughter's monthly allowance. Then they could get a twenty-five cent Victory Stamp every Wednesday.

V for Victory.

Help buy a bomb or a bomber.

Have you seen the Carmel High School lately? A big change has taken place. The once widespread lunch papers have now disappeared. This is due to the new system of lunch and corridor control.

It took rules, regulations, and plans to make this control a success. These were produced by Bill Dougherty, student body vice president, who worked out the new rules with the aid of Miss Leila Gulmert, girls' gym teacher, and Coach George Mosolf, boys' athletic director.

The corridor control enforcement now rests in the hands of the Leaders' Club and the Block "C" Club, the boys' and girls' athletic organizations. These two groups have been assisted by the new Student Court which tries all discipline problems at high school, including court summons issued by corridor control officers. The success of this program is made apparent by the great decrease of summons reading "running in the corridors." At the first hearing of corridor control summons, there were several cases; at the second hearing there was but one case, and the jury found this person not guilty.

Finally Carmel High School has ended the one and a half year old problem of corridor control. Student government has won another victory.

Indian Children Donate Pennies For Local R. C.

Mary Francis Ward, visiting Carmel, a year ago, had special opportunity to observe the workings of our local Red Cross chapter. She was one whose life was dedicated to the care and teaching of children on an Indian reservation in a bleak and unfruited section of Wyoming. On her return to her post, she related to her little charges much of what she had observed during her vacation, and in them arose a wish to take part in service to humanity, to other little children even less fortunate than they, though their own situation is one of hardship and bare poverty.

Such was the spirit that grew from the pictures drawn, that these children, perhaps the better conscious of hardship because of their own stark lives, responded in a way that brings one's emotions quite to the surface.

Money is rare to these forgotten Americans, but, penny by penny, with long intervals between, youngsters of five, six and seven years of age, brought their coins to Teacher, to be put into the books of savings until every space was filled — Two whole Dollars, finally. In recognition of this fine contribution, the Carmel Chapter is sending each child a Junior Red Cross button and is inscribing the following names as honorary members:—Allison Sage, Mary Agnes Crispin, Wayne Friday, William Buckman, Flossie Wanstall, Albert Quiver, Arvin Felter, Anderson Little, Winnie Armour, John Goggles, Stanford Trumbull, Gladys Goggles, Richard Thunder, Maria Shakespeare, Nancy Amos, Theresa Gould, Josephine O'Neill, Ada Brown, Virgie Caldwell, Dorothy Whiteplume, all of the St. Michael's Mission School to the Arapahoe Indians at Wind River Reservation, Ethete, Wyoming.

The Rileys Attend a Wedding—

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Riley of Point Lobos and their daughter, Mary, went up to Los Altos Saturday for the wedding of Mrs. Riley's niece, Helen Burnette, and Robert Morris.

My dear Mrs. Hargrave:

I felt that you would be interested to know that in a cable received recently from Hawaii we were informed that the garments and dressings made by your Chapter had been received and were being used there to meet vital needs. I hope that you will tell this to your Production workers, for it seems to me that they will be happy to know that their handiwork has reached this particular destination and the important use to which it is being put.

Very sincerely yours,

Life With Father Geary Attraction

"Life With Father," New York's most delightful stage comedy in many years, will come to the Geary theater for a short engagement beginning Monday night, April 6. It will give performances every night except Sunday and matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

"Life With Father" depicts the comic domestic adventures of an American family, the Clarence Shepard Days, during the era of bustles and bicycles, gas-light and plush furniture, in New York City. Father is the boss of his brood of four red-haired boys and a red-haired wife to the extent that modern fathers would believe impossible. He roars and bellows and blusters, gives orders, frightens servants, doctors and relatives and makes life a commotion from morning to night. Mother, despite her carrot-top, is demure, quiet and yielding—but in the end always gets her way, to father's vociferous annoyance and astonishment.

"Life With Father" was written by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, who based the play on the short stories that Clarence Day, Jr., wrote about his own family. These first appeared in The New Yorker magazine.

IN THE LIGHT OF EASTER WE CAN BE BRAVE

By REV. C. J. HULSEWE, B. D.
Rector, All Saints' Church

On Good Friday a cross stood gaunt against the skyline. On it hung the noblest person the world has ever known. It seemed as if goodness had gone down in defeat. Darkness settled over the land. Panic stricken, the disciples fled through the shadows, believing all was lost. The Master was dead. The Kingdom He had talked of was only a broken dream. Here was the end of it—a cross flung against the skyline!

Then came the Easter sunrise, and the light of larger understanding. The Master still lived! Through the dawning came the women with the story that the tomb was empty. Quickly this was verified. The tomb was indeed empty. Possibly someone had stolen the body. Then came the Master, Himself, walking and talking with them —and the Easter hope passed into certainty. Jesus had conquered death. This they knew, not because of the empty tomb, but because of their full hearts. They had experienced the living Christ!

To a world overshadowed with fear, Easter comes again as brilliant sunlight, piercing the dark clouds of our anxiety, restoring our vision and perspective, and giving us new courage. The victories of evil are always transient. No present wrong is ever final. Easter certified the truth that beyond the cross of suffering stands the ultimate victory of right. In the light of Easter Day we can be brave and patient in our difficulties. We can find the incentive to be worthy of our task in that faith.

May the day of Resurrection fill our hearts with joy!

THE KING OF KINGS

By REV. JAMES E. CROWTHER, D. D.
Church of the Wayfarer

Pontius Pilate sent his report to the Roman Emperor, Tiberius Claudius I, that he had just authorized the crucifixion of a young revolutionist of obscure parentage, charged with spreading heresy and cherishing ambitions of kingship. Although the culprit lacked financial support, social prestige and ecclesiastical authority, his personal charm and dynamic messages had caused many of the common people to hail him as king and deliverer of Israel, thus jeopardizing the Roman power and challenging the religious authorities. But he is now dead, his followers are dispersed, and his influence is ended. His name, incidentally, was one Jesus, a carpenter from Galilee. Thus wrote Pilate!

Less than a score of years after the above event, a seventeen-year-old youth ascended the throne of the Roman Empire. He was applauded by his Brown-shirts as a brilliant actor, artist, charioteer, musician, poet and sculptor. His were the resources of birth, breed, education, wealth, prestige, militarism and political power. A thousand strong-arm Governors ruled the far-flung provinces in his name — the neurotic name of Nero! Throughout the Empire he was worshipped as a god — except by some fanatical followers of a Nazarene who had been crucified in Judea some years before. These heretics he drafted as slaves for his household, as food for his hungry lions, as fagots to illuminate his imperial gardens on gala occasions. Such feminine religion as theirs could not survive! Such fascist regime as his could never fail! But, at the age of thirty-four, a fugitive from his own Praetorian Guards, Emperor Nero committed suicide in a suburb of Rome. So invincible had he seemed to be that, for a hundred years, men looked for his resurrection and return to power. Today there are no resurrection hymns or hopes associated with the mighty name of Nero.

A few more years rolled by. A follower of Jesus was exiled to the Isle of Patmos. His name was John. One of the first disciples, he was closest to the Master's mind and heart. He saw Him die on that Roman cross. He was among the first at the empty tomb. He had talked with the Risen Christ. He had heard Him say, "I am He that liveth, and was dead, and behold, I am alive for evermore." John had seen the transforming power of the Living Christ in the lives of men, and the leaven-like growth of His Kingdom throughout the Empire. Then it was, on that lonely isle, the aged apostle wrote a luminous line that shines above crashing empires, crumbling thrones and cringing peoples: "Jesus Christ, the Ruler of the Kings of the Earth." That is the Easter faith of Christendom. That faith is carved into the High Altar of Westminster Abbey, where England's Kings and Quens received their coronation: "The kingdom of this world is become the Kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ." In that Easter faith we sing:

"Christ the Lord is risen today, Alleluia!"

POETRY

IN THE PEACE OF THE LAUREL HILLS

The California hillside wears a veil
Like moon mist woven by the laurel sprays
Distilling healing fragrance from the haze
Of blossoms that envelops the steep trail.
And elfin stars fall with the stir of quail
Among the chaparral, a lamb's soft gaze
Is petal powdered as he slowly strays
Through silver labyrinths down to the dale.
The flower fountains wash the crest with white
Where two young hearts look up to dream and sing,
Unmindful that the winds may come tonight
Where sacrificial fires are smoldering,
This hour is guarded by the mountain light
Of peace within the depths of laurel spring.

—MONICA TYLER BROWN

TIGER TREES

See the tawny-hued design
On the tiger and the pine.

One the tiger, one the tree,
Have this sunshot alchemy.

So the golden colors glide
On the tiger's graceful side.

So the flowing patterns rise,
Leaning on the mountain skies.

Strange it is to find this mark
On a pine tree, wrought in bark.

—WILMA OELSNER

WHEN I WAS YOUNG

I never numbered
The passing seasons
When I was young;
I had no reasons.

White flowering plum tree,
Golden, ripening grain,
Bright scarlet maple,
Silver-frosted pane

Were all a part of
Youth and well-being.
I never noticed
That time was fleeing;

I never knew
That the lonely heart
Marks well the season,
Each day apart.

—LOUISE DARCY

ARISTOTLE

Aristotle, the Greek philosopher,
Has forgotten the Spartan wars,
The Delphian Oracle,
The Boetian counselors;
In a thousand years, a Grecian wind
Has completed his bone-erasure;
But memory has built a green-starred monument,
And the April-sounding seas
Are clamoring his philosophy.

WE PETITION THEE TO PROTECT OUR SERVICE MEN

By REV. MICHAEL D. O'CONNELL
Mission San Carlos

My Easter wish is that all souls may be alight with the joy and peace of the victory of the Risen Christ. The Resurrection is the triumph of life over death, the heavenly over the earthly, the divine over the human. In the words of the Great Apostle "Christ is risen from the dead by the power of the Father that we also may walk in the newness of life."

Today the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse have cast their shadows upon the earth and into this moment of time is compressed the tragedies, the desolation, death and destruction that in the past took more than a century to accomplish. To a stricken humanity only the Risen Christ from whom streams the resplendent light of eternity can penetrate the darkness of the days and the terrors of the nights with the hope of immortality. For by His Resurrection Christ vanquished death and reopened to souls the fountain of eternal life.

Prayer

Prince of Peace, in this hour of great sorrow and trial, we humbly petition Thee to protect all our service men everywhere, and to give unto them unflinching courage to defend our country with honor, dignity and devotion to Thy Holy Will. Guard our churches, our homes, our schools, our hospitals, our factories, our buildings and all therein from harm and peril. Protect our land from enemies within and without. Grant unto us an early Peace and Victory founded upon justice, and instill into the hearts and minds of men everywhere a firm purpose to live forever in peace and good will toward all. Amen. (The special prayer for Peace and Victory said at all services during Holy Week at the Mission.)

ARMY AND FBI TO TALK HERE

All Wardens in Carmel Civilian Defense are still at work on their schooling and training. With the idea of enabling every man and woman to stand on his or her own feet if possible, they are beginning to impart instructions to householders. To supplement these instructions—and get a wider view of the whole war picture, so far as it applies to John Q. Citizen, his wife and children, Civilian Defense has secured four dates beginning April 17th at Carmel Adult Education Forum in Sunset School Auditorium.

Nat J. L. Pieper, head of Federal Bureau of Investigation will be first speaker. On the evening of April 17th, Mr. Pieper will tell you a great deal about the extraordinary work which his organization has done in this section. You will hear how the FBI weeded out Fifty Columnists and other noxious vermin; how Carmel Police worked overtime to cooperate in this task many months before Pearl Harbor.

Mr. Pieper, a law school graduate, close associate of J. Edgar Hoover and familiar with all angles of the FBI work, spoke in Carmel once before and got a tremendously enthusiastic reception. In spite of the heavy load which he is now carrying he consented to come here again. This in good part was due to his appreciation for the services of Chief of Police Roy Fraties and the latter's men.

Other dates on this lecture program will be April 22, May 8, and May 15. All at Sunset School Auditorium. Speakers will include First Lieutenant J. K. Conner now detailed as Public Relations Officer, who will give the Army side of the Picture, Colonel W. G. Stuart, head of Red Cross Disaster Relief, and Mayor Keith Evans. Nature of their talks will be outlined at greater length later.

SAND FOR BOMBS

Distribution of sand, with which to extinguish incendiary bombs was accomplished late last week by city trucks for Civilian Defense in Carmel and environs. Residents of the entire community, including Hatton Fields and the Point will find piles at addresses listed below. If you are in any doubt as to where to store the sand or what to do with it in case of air raid emergency, consult your block warden. If you do not know where to find your block warden, consult the list given in another column. Complete instructions, handed down by the War Department, have been given all wardens by teachers of High and Sunset Schools, working under Officer Frank Hay's direction.

FOUR FINE ARTISTS IN BENEFIT PROGRAM FOR CIVILIAN DEFENSE

Like all volunteer organizations for war work, Civilian Defense needs money—and will probably continue to need it for the duration. Most fittingly for Carmel, a group of artists are furnishing the first notable contribution. Three musicians and a dancer will give a benefit program on the afternoon of May 3 at the Carmel Playhouse.

This program of fine music and dancing may prove the first of other similar efforts by an element which has been prominent in the village during its entire existence. The artists give their services, Ted Kuster gives the theatre for bare lighting and operating expenses, Kit Whitman gives her time and work at handling the business end including ticket sales, John Cunningham gets out art posters for the fun of it.

As for the program, it speaks for itself. It will consist of a violin sonata, written by Elaine Lavrans (Mrs. James Hopper,) whose work as a composer is already attracting much genuine enthusiasm among musicians and critics. Miss Lavrans will accompany John Shelby Metcalf, Jr., who will play the solo parts.

Clarita Navarro, whose recent recital at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco was very successful, will sing an aria and several songs, all of these to be French selections.

Claire Lauche, who worked with the famous Adolf Bohm arranging dances for ballets, will dance to a suite by Elaine Lavrans and do several short numbers.

For the perusal of music lovers Hal Garrott will furnish more intelligent news and comment concerning this program later on.

BLOCK WARDEN ADDRESSES

Strength of Civilian Defense block wardens in Carmel and Suburbs now reaches about 80 per cent of the full quota. Chief Warden Malcolm Tarpey and Floyd Adams, who acts as field man, are trying to bring it up to 100 per cent. You can help them, either by volunteering your services or suggesting some other who is able to do this.

With a view of putting residents in direct touch with the block wardens now in service and notifying those whose districts have vacancies, Civilian Defense is going over the situation precinct by precinct and publishing one precinct list every week.

Below you will find the list for Precinct Five, bounded by San Carlos on the east, Ocean Avenue on the South, City Limits on the North, and the beach on the West. For your block number or letter consult a city map. Blanks under the separate headings mean no block warden as yet. Do your best to get these blanks filled out. It is for your own protection.

Eskimo Mike, Carmel Guest, Tells Yarns

Gontran de Poncins, who lived in an igloo with the Eskimos for a year and then wrote about them in "Kabloona", has had several more adventures than are contained in that busy book, some of which he told in an interview with The Pine Cone while visiting Countess Kinnoull in Carmel last week.

Small and young looking, de Poncins smokes a large pipe and tells stories as well as he writes them. In America he has picked up th nickname, "Eskimo Mike," which makes him very proud because he is also a descendent of Montaigne and a viscount.

Here it was learned that M. de Poncins has taken perilous voyages through the New Hebrides, and traveled in China, India, Venezuela and Colombia, and visited Martinique and Porto Rico and lived for a year at his home in Occupied France.

A Connecticut Frenchman

"Kabloona" was written in the town of Essex, Conn., in 1940 and published in New York after de Poncins had returned to France. He lived among the Germans in New Orleans for a year and heard nothing about his book.

One day a cable arrived from Publishers Raymond-Hitchcock saying "Kabloona" had been chosen by the Book of the Month Club and please come. De Poncins left, how, he doesn't care to say.

As he sat in a doctor's padded chair in Lisbon waiting to be vaccinated, the doctor talked about the Arctic and the interesting new book that had just come out on it.

"I'll show you," said the doctor and produced "Kabloona," the first copy de Poncins saw.

Hides in New York

Now he has completed a second book which will be published in a few months.

To do his writing he hides away from the world in a small apartment in New York City.

He likes Americans' directness and friendliness and says in no place else in the world would a publisher have commissioned him to write a book after a two-hour conversation. Curtis Hitchcock not only invited him to write "Kabloona" on this short acquaintance but gave him a thousand dollars as a starter.

The Eskimos are whimsical, he found. They heard the word "goofy" and thought it so adorable that they named a baby Goofinique. To hunt foxes or polar bears in the Arctic one must have a license from the Canadian government if one is not an Eskimo. The exclusiveness of their hunting pleases the Eskimos. They are fully aware of their unique significance.

CHURCH OF WAYFARER

At the Church of the Wayfarer there will be two Easter morning services, the first at 9:30, the second at 11 o'cock. Both will be identical in the order of worship and the sermon. The young children will have their Church School as usual in the downstairs room at 9:45. The first service at 9:30 will be attended by the Youth of the Church School and most of the regular congregation, together with such visitors as may find the earlier service more convenient. The second service at 11 o'clock will accommodate the large attendance of visitors who will share the gladness of Easter in this lovely sanctuary. The young people's Vested Choir will aid in the worship in both services.

Dr. James E. Crowther, the pastor, will preach on "The Easter Message." Mrs. Grace C. Howden, soprano soloist, will sing, "Hosanna," by Jules Granier. Margaret Sherman Lea, organist, will present the following selections: "Easter Carols," Selected; "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," (The Messiah) Handel; "Christo Trionfante," Pierto Yon; "Hallelujah Chorus," (The Messiah) Handel. The hymns will be "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today," Wesley-Lyra Davidica; "Come, Ye Faithful, Raise the Strain," John of Damascus-Sullivan; "For All the Saints," How-Barnby; "Jerusalem the Golden," Bernard of Cluny-Ewing. The Easter offering will be for the church's emergency relief fund. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to worship with us on this festal day.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

Today—Good Friday—The Three Hour Service, from 12 noon to 3 o'clock with Meditations on the Seven Words on the Cross by Dr. J. Crowther, Minister of the Church of the Wayfarer and Rev. C. J. Hulsewé, Rector of All Saints Church.

On Saturday—Easter Eve—5 p. m.—Childrens Service with Easter Pageant, "The Chalice and the Cup" Presentation of the Lenten offering. Parents and friends of children especially invited.

Easter Sunday—8 a. m. Service of the Holy Communion. At 9:30 a. m. Choral Holy Communion Service with message by the Rector, Soloist Rev. E. Manhire: Solo "Christ the Risen Lord" by Leon A. Hoffmeister.

11:00 a. m. the Service of Morning Prayer with Easter Sermon message by the Rector Offertary Anthem "Lift Up Your Voices Now" by Stanley R. Avery. This service will be followed by a celebration of the Holy Communion. The full Vested Choir will participate. Organ numbers include Handel's "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," the Halleliner Chorus and Lotti's "Joy Fill the Morning.—Alice Lee Keith at the organ.

Mrs. Dwight Morrow Here—

Mrs. Dwight Morrow has been in the Valley for several days visiting her son and daughter-in-law, the Dwight Morrows, Jr.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

In all Christian Science churches branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, April 5, on the subject "Unreality." The Golden Text will be: "If a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand," (Mark 3:25).

Bible selections will include the following passage from I Corinthians 1:27: "But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will aso be included, which reads as follows: "At present mortals progress slowly for fear of being thought ridiculous. They are slaves to fashion, pride, and sense . . . We ought to weary of the fleeting and false and to cherish nothing which hinders our highest selfhood," (p. 68).

Martin Baer Tells Stories of Yogi Days Recalls Going Native in African Desert Finds Janitoral Predecessor Out Here

By ELIZABETH PAINE

Among the assortment of refugees Carmel has drawn from this war is an artist who says he began as a yogi, Martin Baer.

"Art is a religion and requires absolute devotion," said Mr. Baer in his temporary home on the mesa overlooking the artichoke fields. He was smoking a cigarette, which is something he would never have done in his yogi days.

Then he only studied, painted and did janitorial work at Chicago's Smith Academy of Art in return for his tuition. He and his brother, George, studied in Munich and Paris, went to the Sahara Desert where they lived with the Arabs and painted steadily for four years.

Camels, Natives and Gourds

In 1926 they emerged in Paris with 50 huge paintings of camels, natives and gourds and took Paris by the ears. All but four of the pictures were sold—to the Baers' surprise. And they excited generous comment from the critics who saw a strong El Greco influence in Martin Baer' swork. This interested Mr. Baer because he had never seen an El Greco.

Anyway, all this can happen if you begin as a yogi and are Martin Baer.

Style Changes

Some other things that help are honesty and sincerity. Mr. Baer has obviously practiced his own theories: he has painted the way he felt regardless of the public. Popular as his stark, modern African paintings proved, their style did not become a Baer trademark. After another two years in Algiers and Morocco, he stopped painting Africa. He also dropped the style of painting Africa had evoked in him. In 1934 he studied a new set of natives, again by living with them as he painted them. He moved to Ibiza, smallest of the Balearic Islands. Here the natives, half Moorish and half Spanish, are exquisite, large-eyed and soulful. They affected Mr. Baer profoundly. His paintings became sentimental, totally different.

Now a New Phase

Now he feels about to enter a new phase, this time of abstraction.

Carmel will have an opportunity to see the extremely different periods through which Mr. Baer has passed when he holds a one-man show at the Art Gallery in May.

Mr. Baer's wife is Janina Liszkowska, who founded the Galerie de la Jeune Peinture in Paris. She was among the first to exhibit his work. He came to the United States in 1936 to give exhibits and she came to buy American paintings to show in Paris. They were married here and then returned to live in Ibiza, St. Tropez and Paris until two days before the city fell. On their way to this country they stayed in Spain and Portugal.

In Carmel Mr. Baer met Burton Boundey who had preceded him as a student janitor at Smith's Academy.

Army Day Plans Include Parade

Thousands of crack Fort Ord soldiers and millions of dollars of modern war equipment will be on display in Monterey and Salinas next Monday, April 6, in observance of Army Day.

Throughout the entire nation similar events will be staged, although the parades in this vicinity are expected to be the most spectacular.

The only event on the army reservation here which may be observed by the public will be a review at 10 o'clock in the morning in honor of Maj. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr., commander of VII Army Corps, who will come here from San Jose, Calif.

While no civilian sightseers will be allowed on the post that day because of war precautions, this review may be watched from the highway. It will be staged just north of Ord Village in a 50-acre tract.

Mile Long Parade

The parade in Monterey will start at 1:30 o'clock. Horses, guns, motorized equipment and men will form a column nearly a mile in length.

It will march into the city along Del Monte avenue, turning right at Washington street and following the loop around to Alvarado street. It will turn left at Alvarado, past the reviewing stand at Polk street, then left on Fremont to El Estero park. There the horses will be loaded into the portees and taken to Salinas.

The Salinas parade will begin at about 4:30 p.m. While the lines are forming, planes from the Salinas Air Base and others from the King City Air Training Center will maneuver over the city.

At Salinas the parade will form near Hawthorne and South Main streets. It will move into the city along Main, past the reviewing stand in front of the Fox theater near San Luis avenue. It will turn left at Central, left again at Clark street, and disband along Blanco Road.

There will be Army bands at both the Monterey and Salinas reviewing stands. Army as well as civic dignitaries will review the troops and equipment.

Concert Slated

Musicians from the Presidio of Monterey will present a special concert sometime in the afternoon at the Monterey City Hall.

An interesting fact in connection with the parades is that one outfit stationed at Fort Ord will participate in all three events. After the Fort Ord review they will march their horses to Monterey and from there they will go to Salinas. One platoon of horses, men and equipment from the same unit will be sent to San Jose to help stage a similar parade there.

The parades here are in line with the desires of President Roosevelt as outlined in an Army Day proclamation last week.

The proclamation stated:

"As commander in chief, I hereby authorize officers of the military units wherever feasible to aid civic bodies in the observance of Army Day.

"I most strongly urge that the people of the United States observe Army Day by honoring our Citizen Soldiers and giving special thought to the great responsibility for contributing unstintedly to their efforts . . ."

The observance of Army Day will in no way interfere with defense operations nor will it divulge any military secrets. Only troops that are not actually needed at their posts will take part in the parades in the Monterey bay area.

Arrangements for the Monterey and Salinas parades have been made by the chambers of commerce of both cities, in cooperation with Fort Ord Army officials.

"Deserted" Still Packing Them In

Current bill at the First Theatre, Monterey, is "Deserted at the Altar," melodrama of hair-raising thrills and escapes, which shows at the historic State building tomorrow night and Sunday. An olio which is unsurpassed in fun and hilarity follows the melodrama.

"That marriage must not take place," "Drive like blazes to the den on Marsh Road! There is not a moment to be lost!" "Deserted at the Altar by the man you loved and trusted!" . . . these lines from the thrilling story of the innocent Nel who runs away to New York to marry her lover, who is abducted and taken to the den of the counterfeiters after her bridegroom is lured from her at the moment of marriage . . . these lines and much more hold First Theatre audiences spellbound each week-end.

New olio numbers which are said to top all former olio favorites are "The Dobson Family . . . No. 1 . . . Elmer Pops the Question," "The Troupers Go Brazilian," "Strike Up the Band," "She's More to Be Pitied Than Censured," "The Second Minuet," starring the seasoned Troupers of the Gold Coast, who for five years now, under the Denny-Watrous Management, have provided hilarious entertainment for an audience which has come from all parts of the state.

Inventive Billy—

Billy Stovall has extended April Fool's Day over the whole week.

He began with Paul Clemmensen and went on to almost everybody with his "ticket to a special Easter show." When a person picked up the ticket to look at it hundreds of tickets sprang at him like a jack-in-the-box.

Billy found the string of tickets behind the Carmel Theatre and saw immediately that they had possibilities.

All Saints' Easter Pageant—

The children of All Saints' parish will take part in a simple Easter pageant, "The Chalice and the Cup," tomorrow afternoon at five.

A background of Easter music will be payed on the organ by Miss Alice Lee Keith while the Rev. C. J. Hulsewé reads the story.

Patricia Gorman will be seen as the Spirit of St. Martha's Guild and Peggy Riker, as the Spirit of Service, while the role of the Spirit of Peace will be taken by Barbara Clark. Faith, Hope and Love will be represented by Margaret Kollmer, and the two adult parts, those of Mother Church and Sister Anne, are to be portrayed by Mrs. C. J. Hulsewé and Mrs. William Murphy.

Betty Bel, Nadine Hoser, Eva Lou Lippi, Adele Thompson, and Nancy McCarthy will be seen in other parts. Mrs. Hulsewé is directing the pageant and Mr. Reu E. Manhire, choir director at All Saints, will sing several Easter hymns.

After the program there will be a presentation of Lenten boxes by the church school members, both upper grades and kindergarten.

Mrs. Magee Gives a Party—

For her house guest, Mrs. Chas. Christin of San Francisco, Mrs. B. D. Magee gave a small cocktail party recently.

* * *

Kusters Entertain—

This afternoon at three fifteen, in the Greenroom on Casanova Street just back of the Playhouse, a group of readings and comments will be offered by Edward Kuster.

The subject-matter will be John Steinbeck's "The Moon is Down," Robinson Jeffers' "Be Angry at the Sun," Homer Lea's "Valour of Ignorance" and "The Day of the Saxon," and Maurice Browne's exquisite but little known "I Remember." Mr. Kuster, long identified with our local theatre as producer, director and actor, was lately director for two years of the American and British plays produced by Max Reinhardt at his theatre workshop in Hollywood. Coffee and conversation this afternoon at five, after the program.

Army Wives Supper—

This week end Mrs. Herbert Enderton will be guest of honor at a pot luck supper given by three other Army wives, Mrs. Alexander Nisbet, Mrs. H. R. McClintock, Jr., and Mrs. B. J. Greulich.

The party will take place at Mrs. Greulich's home on Santa Rita.

* * *

Mrs. James Cockburn Visits—

Mrs. James Cockburn, former Carmelite who recently returned from Honolulu, is in Carmel this week-end to visit Mrs. Ada Winslow and Barbara.

* * *

Mrs. John Kellogg Arrives—

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kellogg have with them until June their daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Kellogg, and granddaughter, Janet, aged one year.

* * *

Chest Entertains Sixty—

Sixty persons were present at the Community Chest luncheon for directors, their wives and special guests. Thanks to the efficient and hard work of everyone concerned from the smallest boy and girl scout to President Stanton in his chef's cap and apron, wielding the steak fork, everything moved like clockwork and sixty people were fed a delicious barbecue at beautifully set tables. Mrs. Henry P. Russell's talk on the San Francisco Community Chest and its workings and her concise answers to questions were interesting and informative, and gave a clear picture of Chest - Agency relationships.

Among those who enjoyed the barbecue were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Beall, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Coughran, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davis, Mr. and Mrs. James Doud, Miss Anita Doud, Mr. John Gratiot, Miss Marie Von Kanel, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gross, Mrs. A. G. Hanke, Miss Edna Herloffen, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hargrave, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hay, Dr. D. T. MacDougal, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Murray, Mr. and Mrs. William O'Donnell, Mr. and Mrs. Roudi Partridge, Mr. Frank Shea, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shephard, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton, Mrs. Ethel P. Young, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thorn, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Veit, Mr. Eben Whittlesey, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Work, Mrs. Henry P. Russell, speaker, and Kit Whitman, chairman of the executive committee and program chairman of the day.

Bill Millis Expected—

Mrs. Vera Peck Millis is anticipating a visit from her son, Bill, this weekend.

Spring Is Here With Outdoor Flower Show by Woman's Club This Monday

The garden section of the Woman's Club will entertain the entire membership of the club with an outdoor flower show at the regular April meeting which will be held Monday, April 6, at 2:30 p. m. at La Ribera Hotel.

The patio of the hotel will have displays of flower arrangements, potted plants, cut flowers, and vegetable seeds which will be on sale, with the Red Cross receiving the proceeds.

Miss Elsa Uppmann, head of the California School of Gardening at Stanford University, will talk on Victory Gardens. The meeting will concude with the serving of tea. The general public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Harry S. Nye, Mrs. Willian F. Halyard, Mrs. Martin Flavin, and Mrs. Saxton Pope are in charge of the meeting.

The regular meeting of the garden section will be held Wednesday April 8. It is to take the form of a tour of Monterey gardens under the leadership of Mrs. W. M. O'Donnell who will entertain those on the tour at her home in Monterey for tea at the conclusion of the afternoon. Those wishing to go on the tour should be at the La Ribera Hotel at 2 p. m. sharp. Mrs. Nye, telephone 643, will make arrangements for those needing transportation and will assist in providing passengers for those who have room in their cars.

Clines Nielsons Entertain—

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clines Nielson the other evening were treated to a playing of the brand new records made by Judith Anderson and Maurice Evans of "Macbeth." Accompanying music is by Lehmann Engle.

"Major" Shelburn Robison—

Since Tuesday Captain Shelburn Robison has been in charge of all military science at the University of Santa Clara. He is now properly called the commandant, and it is expected that he will shortly be promoted to the rank of major.

On Tuesday a magnificent military review was given for Captain Robison's predecessor, who has been transferred. Mrs. Robison went up for the day and noticed that four generals were present, including Major General Charles H. White of the Point.

This evening Captain Robison will return to his Carmel home for the week-end. Last week when he was down, he and Mrs. Robison attended a cocktail party given by Major W. E. Kneass.

* * *

Major Kneass Gives Party—

Saturday Major W. E. Kneass invited a group of his Army friends to a cocktail party to meet his houseguests, Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Ralph Bitler.

* * *

Picture Segments Shipped—

Micaela Martinez has sent off two more panels of the murals she is painting for Mission San Luis Ray at Oceanside.

She is embellishing the interior walls of the library and her latest shipment brings her to the halfway point.

* * *

Life in New York—

Mrs. Florence Sharon Brown writes from New York that she is spending most of her time on Red Cross work while her granddaughter, Louise Doud, studies for radio work at the National Academy of Dramatic Art.

* * *

After a sojourn in the hospital, Les Overhulse is around and about again. You don't however, need to worry about getting parking tickets from him yet because he won't go back to work until Monday.

* * *

Mrs. Griggs Has Guests—

Mrs. Herman M. Griggs was hostess over the week-end to her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Botsford of Piedmont.

* * *

"Route Order" No. 2—

When the soldiers' musical satire, "Route Order," recently given in Carmel, was repeated to enthusiastic audiences at Fort Ord last week-end, Mrs. H. H. Rupertino of Cleveland was an especially interested spectator.

She is the sister of the siren and set designer, Eduard Sebesta.

* * *

Stellas Augment Army Group—

Captain and Mrs. Harry A. Stella will, when they return from a honeymoon, settle in Carmel.

Shirley V. Haines of Tacoma and Captain Stella were married in St. John's Chapel, Del Monte, Sunday by the Rev. Theodore Bell. Their attendants were Mercedes Russell of Tacoma and David C. Nubiskel.

* * *

The Sims Leave—

Major and Mrs. Claire Sims, who have lived in Carmel for the past two years, moved away this week leaving many friends behind and also a sadly disappointed Red Cross for Mrs. Ethel Sims, R. N., has been conducting home nursing classes.

* * *

Mrs. Powell Opens Home—

Here from Denver for several weeks is Mrs. Cuthbert Powell. She has opened her home at Fourth and Carmelo.

* * *

Anne Read Repeats—

During the last war, Anne Read plunged her energies into full time work for the Red Cross and now again she is back at the same job in San Francisco.

Although they have moved from their home on Dolores street, however, she and Miss Cecelia Powell still spend their week-ends in Carmel.

SCOUT CLEARING HOUSE

Carmel Girl Scouts, devoting their time to war work, have put themselves on call for war service agencies.

They may be reached through Ellen Habenicht's Sketch Box, 711-W, which will serve as their official clearing house.

Army Daughters to Give Benefit

The Fort Ord Chapter of the Army Daughters is having a benefit bridge tea on Tuesday, April 7, from 1:30 to 5 p. m., at the Presidio Officers' Club.

All Army and civilian ladies are invited. Come at 1:30 o'clock for bridge or mah jongg. Mah jongg players are asked to bring their own sets. Or guests may come in at 4 o'clock for tea.

Everyone present will have a chance to win the interesting door prize to be given to the holder of the lucky number.

Tickets may be bought from any Army Daughter or at the door.

Reservations for bridge and mah jongg must be made in advance by calling Miss Allison Stilwell at Carmel 1453.

Those arranging for the tea are the Misses Allison Stilwell, president; Rhea Ann Stetson, treasurer; Winifred Stilwell, of the social committee; Evelyn Wright, of the ticket committee, and Mrs. Malcolm Lindsey and Mrs. Charles White Jr.

Visits Grandparents—

* * *

Their many Carmel friends bid Mrs. Webster Street, Marjory, Nancy and Mary, a reluctant goodbye Tuesday as they moved from here to make their home in Reno.

* * *

Guests of Mrs. Riker—

This week Mrs. Mildred Riker of the Sundial apartments has been entertaining her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Prosser of Seattle.

They leave this week-end for southern California, probably stopping here again on their return.

* * *

William Justema Here—

William Justema, San Francisco artist, is spending Easter with Noel Sullivan.

* * *

Lieutenant and Mrs. Peer de Silva of Dolores and Santa Lucia became the parents of a baby girl Tuesday.

She arrived at the Peninsula Community Hospital.

* * *

Legion Auxiliary's Reading—

* * *

Carrots by Mrs. Low—

The Art Gallery missed and the Dolores grocery received this week two charming objects d'art.

Vegetable figurines, they remained on the glass-topped refrigerator until warped by the ravages of time.

The figurines, elephants, were the product of one of Mrs. Paul Low's whimsical moments. She found potatoes made sturdy bodies and carrots excellent legs and elephant ears. She created the most baleful of eyes from split green onions. And then Mrs. Low wondered what she would do with them, wondered until vegetables led her to groceries and groceries to her friends, the Ericksons.

Women Voters Plan Sessions—

Their purpose was to discuss attendance of local women at the Northern Conference of the League at the Women's Clubhouse, Stanford University, April 15. Mrs. Louis C. Ralston, president of the Peninsula group, will take charge of Carmel reservations for the conference luncheon.

And the object of this Northern Conference will be to prepare for still another and larger meeting of the League, the state convention which will be held in Los Angeles May 13-15. Convention subjects, such as defense, housing, foreign policy, and employment problems, will be given preliminary discussion at Stanford.

Pleasant Job—Guinea Pig—

* * *

Stuarts to Give Program—

Colonel G. W. Stuart and his wife, Florence (Kippy), will join forces to give the evening program for the California Library Association when the Portola-San Francisco districts meet at Del Monte April 11.

"Piang, MacArthur and the Philippines" will be the subject on which the Stuarts will speak. They lived in Manila when MacArthur was a second lieutenant there, and Colonel Stuart and the General graduated together from West Point.

About Piang, the Moro chieftain who recently offered his resources to MacArthur, Kippy Stuart is something of an expert: Piang Piang served as her honor guard in the Zamboanga jungle while her father, Colonel J. M. T. Partello, was stationed on the island of Mindanao when Kippy was a young girl.

Success Almost Overwhelms Bazaar At All Saints' as 200 Arrive for Lunch

More than two hundred dollars were taken in by the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints Church at their exceedingly successful bazaar Saturday.

The women were momentarily overwhelmed by the number of guests—two hundred. They managed however to serve a delectable luncheon to all and to attend to their orders at the food table and at the table of fancy work until the stocks gave out.

A share of the proceeds will eventually reach orphans in er to them all. Its work is being supplemented by the Episcopal Church of the United States of which Carmel's All Saints Church ranks as a solid contributor. Saturday's bazaar proved one of the most successful ever put on by the Auxiliary.

The women foremost in giving the benefit were Miss Ethel Cook, president, who acted as chairman; Mrs. Carel J. Hulsewé and Mrs. P. H. Enslow who, assisted by Mrs. H. L. Robb, Miss Alice Cresson and Miss Helene Lehmann, had charge of the luncheon; Mrs. Carl Rohr and Mrs. E. F. Kollmer, coffee pourers; and in serving, Mrs. G. M. Burton, Mrs. Herbert Hoser, and the Misses Peggy Riker, Margaret Kollmer, and Patricia Gorman.

Miss Cook, Mrs. Mary McIntyre and Miss Flora Stuart performed as salewomen at the sewing table and at the cake exhibit Mrs. Geo. Wood, Mrs. Rush Wallace and Miss Mary Crawford presided. Mrs. Leon Fisher, Auxiliary treasurer, officiated at the door and bombed Chinese missions.

Vallely Lectures Hotel Del Monte

Lorita Baker Vallely will give her scheduled lecture at Hotel Del Monte, 3:30 p.m., April 14. She has drawn larger audiences this year than either of the previous years she has been coming to the Peninsula. Her clear cut analysis of the news and her clever way of weaving the reviews of new books into her talks is responsible for the good attendance.

Carmel Doctor on Staff of Planned Salinas Hospital

Dr. Lewis L. Reese of Carmel has been named consultant and director of the Community Hospital, soon to be built at Salinas.

His wide experience in organizing and building hospitals in California, New York and New England led to the hospital association's choice of Dr. Reese, Frank Cornell, president, announced.

The hospital is to be built on Romie lane in Salinas and it is to have 100 beds.

In Carmel Dr. and Mrs. Reese have made their home at Carmelo and Eleventh. Mrs. Reese is the daughter of the M. A. Cheeks of Casanova street.

Scientists Subject Of Hagemeyer Art at Del Monte

By ELIZABETH PAINE

At the Del Monte gallery, Johan Hagemeyer of Carmel is exhibiting 35 photographic portraits which do not seem like photographs as you commonly think of them.

They are live, revealing, deep. They become more than photographs and different from painting and so give the impression of forming a branch of art in themselves.

This vitality and excellence are generally characteristic of Hagemeyer's work although in this exhibit they stand out particularly because of the wealth of his subject material made up as it is of scientists and artists.

Einstein, Ernest O. Lawrence, inventor of the cyclotron, Peter Pringsheim, physicist brother-in-law of Thomas Mann, Robinson Jeffers, Beniamino Bufano, are some of the men whose portraits have been recorded by Hagemeyer. He has studied his subjects well and has captured them in characteristic poses. Mr. Hagemeyer will tell you that he deosn't really care whether the sitter likes his picture, and this fact plays its part in making the portraits unusual and interesting. Often, as in the picture of one University of California professor, you can see that the artist found a pattern of wrinkles significant and beautiful.

Two portraits of Einstein are being shown. In one he appears aloof, far seeing, the impersonation of genius, while in the second he looks as if he were about to say something funny and seems kind, approachable and even folksy.

There is a picture of Benjamin Lehman clutching his head with his hands, and an impression of Helmuth Deetjen, Big Sur woodcarver, which makes him look extremely mysterious. Of especial interest locally are the "shots" of S. F. B. Morse leaning back in an easy chair and of Julian "Spike" Graham who, in a turned-up collar, looks like an Arctic explorer.

The exhibit will continue through Sunday and is certainly worth the precious tire rubber necessary to get there.

First Aid Class Held in Morning Starts Tuesday

A morning class in first aid, with Dr. Kate Gumpertz, M. D., as instructor, is announced by the Carmel Adult School. The class will meet on Tuesday and Friday mornings from 10 to 12 in the library at Sunset School. Registration will be made at the first meeting which will be on Tuesday, April 7.

The class is the result of numerous requests for a morning course. The hour will be adjusted to the convenience of the members of the class, if it is found that an earlier hour will be more satisfactory.

This will be a standard, or beginner's course, it is free of cost, except that students must have a first aid text book. A new one costs 60 cents. The American Red Cross text is used. There will be instruction in practical work, and in the theory of rendering first aid to injured persons.

Nazis Down South Is Forum Subject For Next Thursday

"Nazi Influences in South America" will be Dr. Graham Stuart's topic at Sunset Auditorium on Thursday evening, April 9, at 8 o'clock, in a Carmel Forum lecture, free to the public.

The speaker is returning to the Forum after a most interesting lecture last spring on the "Good Neighbor Policy." Almost immediately after his lecture here Dr. Stuart went again to South America as a member of a Carnegie Foundation good will party. The trip occupied several months and included all of the important countries of the southern continent.

Stuart is one of the best known speakers in California in this field. He has lectured for most of the important forums and discussion groups of the state. The Commonwealth Club of San Francisco was one of his audiences soon after his return from the last trip. He has been called to Washington a number of times for consultation on matters affecting the Latin Americas.

This will be the last lecture of the year in the Forum's series on international affairs. A new series of home defense programs, with films and lectures, will be opened the week following the Stuart lecture.

Briggs, Nadine Hoeser and Yvonne Curry.

Lots of Brownies

Also lending a hand but unclassified were Scouts Elaine Erington, Joan de Roos, Patricia Merivale and Barbara Jane Mylar.

One and all voted special thanks to Mr. William Askew, superintendent of streets, for plowing the ground for the garden.

At a meeting of Scout leaders following the ceremonies, Mrs. Lloyd Miller announced that she very much needs an assistant, and the Scouts have asked The Pine Cone to request any Carmel woman interested in doing Girl Scout work to communicate with her or us.

COMMERCIAL PHOTOGRAPHY

And her 14 students have the use of two dark rooms, each of which is equipped with an enlarger.

Morton Recital Brings Delight to Song Lovers

The French group began with Faure's "Les Berceaux," which in the light of our war-torn world took on new overtones of significance: the eternal woman, looking out on the expanse of sea, recognizes in the rocking boats the sway of the cradle, and both have the same pull on her heart! . . . There was a forecast of life with its joys and vicissitudes in the rhythmic "Spinning Wheel" of Paladhile, and in Erlanger's too little heard "Morte" the tragic drama of death and separation was unequivocally explored. Debussy's exquisite "Romance" led us back to the sphere of introspective musing, and in the "Ariette" of Vidal there was the rhapsodic note of Ecstasy.

The English songs which concluded the program gave Miss Morton added opportunity to communicate her awarness of the beauties of nature such as surround us here, as well as her remembrance of colder climes with the gentle monotony of "Falling Snow" as dscribed by Sigurd Lie, the Norwegian composer.

Any words of mine could do no more than suggest a bird's-eye-view, as it were, of the content of some of the songs on this program. It was the unstinted feeling, voice and artistry of Rachel Morton that made the fullness of their message accessible to us.

Jaffrey Harris proved himself once more to be a skillful and discreet accompanist, his unfailing musicianship supplying a sensitive frame for song.

Double Fun in Double Comedy Bill at Movie; Colbert, Nolan Stars

The new week's film schedule at Carmel Theatre leads off tonight and tomorrow with the strong double bill, "Skylark," with Claudette Colbert, Ray Milland and Brian Aherne, and "Buy Me That Town," with Lloyd Nolan and Constance Moore. Both pictures are comedies, the first with a romantic twist and the second with a new and original gangland approach. Matinee at two o'clock tomorrow as usual.

Sunday's continuous performance, starting at two o'clock, ushers in a three day run of the season's great adventure film, "Son of Fury," starring Tyrone Power and Gene Tierney, with Frances Farmer, George Sanders and Roddy MacDowell close on their heels as audience attractions in roles suiting them down to the ground. The film, being the pictured story of Benjamin Blake, is as full of thrilling action and tangled romance as its predecessors in the sea-adventuring field, "Mutiny on the Bounty," and "Treasure Island."

Wednesday and Thursday, April 8th and 9th, brings another interesting double bill, "Smilin' Through," with Jeanette MacDonald and Brian Aherne, and "Castle on the Desert," Peninsula first run in the Charlie Chan adventure series.

How To Get That Birth Cirtificate For Defense Job

By JOHN C. SHARP, M. D.
County Medical & Health Director

The time has come when almost everyone has to furnish tangible evidence of his citizenship. In this respect, the naturalized citizen is at a greater advantage than are many persons born within the United States, for all of the former possess documentary evidence of their citizenship. Since a certified copy of a birth certificate is the best possible instrument for proving citizenship, and in light of the fact that there has been so much difficulty of late in obtaining such certificates, this article will be devoted to briefly explaining the methods of obtaining these records.

First, let us outline the existing procedure in birth registration. If a child is born in a hospital, the certificate is delivered to the Local Registrar of Vital Statistics as soon as it is completed and signed by the doctor. In the case of home deliveries, the doctor files the certificate directly with the Local Registrar. In Monterey County there are six Deputy Registrars serving eight registration districts. Once a week the Deputy Registrars mail the certificates to the Local Registrar, who in Monterey County is the Health Officer. When all of the certificates for the week have been received, the Health Department makes three photostatic copies of each certificate. One copy is returned to the Deputy Registrar, one is furnished to the County Recorder, and one is retined by the Health Department for statistical use. At the end of every month the original certificates are transmitted to the State Registrar of Vital Statistics.

Thus, all birth certificates are available in three places; the office of the Deputy Registrar, the office of the County Recorder, and at the office of the State Registrar in Sacramento. All requests for certified copies of birth certificates should contain the following information: Full name of child, Date and Place of Birth, Father's Name and Mother's Maiden Name.

The Public Health Nurses have been delivering a "Notification of Birth Registration" to the parents of all children born in Monterey County since January, 1940. This form is not a certified copy of the birth certificate, but merely serves to notify the parents that the birth was registered in conformity with the Vital Statistics Registration Law. However, this form has certain limited uses, such as proving a child's age for school and other purposes.

In California all births must be registered within one year of the event. If a birth was not registered, as outlined above, and if it occurred in California, the only way that it can be registered is by order of the Superior Court. This requires the services of an attorney, and is a very expensive process. It is hoped that at the next session of the legislature, a bill will be passed which wil simplify the delayed registration of births. In other states, evidence such as baptismal records, school records, family bibles and affidavits of persons alive at the time of birth are accepted as evidence and delayed birth certificates are often filed on the strength of these documents alone. However, at present this evidence alone is not sufficient for filing a delayed birth certificate in California.

In any event, when a certified copy of a birth certificate is not available, the decision as to whether any other document will be accepted, lies in the hands of the agency requesting the certificate.

H. C. Small left Wednesday to make his home in Mountain View. He will return from time to time to look after his property in the Valley.

Lots Fifteen (15) and Thirteen (13), in Block Ninety (90), as shown and so designated on the "Map of Carmel-by-the-Sea, Monterey County, California", filed for record March 7, 1902, in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Monterey, State of California, in Volume 1 of Maps, "Cities and Towns", at page 2.

Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to satisfy the obligations secured by, and pursuant to, the power of sale conferred in, a certain Deed of Trust executed by ANNA HITCHCOCK and JOSEPH HITCHCOCK, her husband, and JOSEPH J. HITCHCOCK, JR., as Trustors, to SILAS W. MACK and P. J. DOUGHERTY, as Trustees, for the benefit and security of THE BANK OF CARMEL, a corporation, dated September 1, 1936, and recorded September 2, 1936, in Volume 491 of Official Records of Monterey County, California, at page 183.

Notice of default of said obligation and election to sell said real property was recorded in the office of the Recorder of said Monterey County, California, on August 18, 1941, in Volume 729 of Official Records at page 453, that nothing has been paid on account of the principal or interest on said loan subsequent to the filing of said Notice fo Default.

This notice is given in compliance with the written application heretofore made on the Trustees by the said Beneficiary.

The owner and holder of the promissory note and of the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust, or any other person may purchase at said sale.

DATED this 16th day of March, 1942.

SILAS W. MACK,
P. J. DOUGHERTY,
Trustees.

Date of 1st pub: March 20, 1942.
Date of last pub: April 10, 1942.

MRS. MAY CROSBY DIES

Mrs. May Wolcott Crosby of Scenic drive died Tuesday at the age of 81.

She had lived in Carmel for several years, coming here from Chicago. Mrs. Crosby is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Blanche C. Semmens of Carmel.

Funeral arrangements were in in charge of Freeman-Rancadore.

ARTIST VISITING HERE

Miss Grace Spaulding, an artist from Lake Superior, has been visiting Mrs. Elizabeth Hillman for the past week.

A teacher at the State Normal school of Marquette, Mich., Miss Spaulding lives on a rocky point that juts out into the much praised beauty of Lake Superior. Carmel has, however, impressed her so favorably that she thinks of moving out here.

NearCatastrophe Hits High Flying Kite Competition

Terrific excitement hit Carmel's annual Kite Festival Saturday when, just as Owen Greenan flew his kite highest, it caught in a tree.

Spirits fell as the neat little kite bobbled but they soared again as judges decided that Owen's kite had won before the catastrophe occurred. Judges pesented Owen with a blue ribbon, first prize for Highest Flying kite.

June and Sybil Kocher carried off second and third prizes for altitude.

Forty Kites Fly

Grown-ups flocked to the High School grounds for the occasion, almost equalling the number of children which was dozens and dozens. A parade up Ocean avenue had preceded the flying and judging of kites at the school.

Forty kites were flown in the festival and all had been made by the children who entered them.

Ben Stilwell, who was born in China, turned up with a tremendously long Chinese centipede kite which immediately drew a crowd of curious kite makers.

Jennefer Lloyd won her fourth prize at a Carmel Kite Festival when she was given a blue ribbon for the Oddest Kite made by a girl. Eva Lou Lippi and Nancy McCarthy won the white and red ribbons, while John Van Houten won first prize for the boys' Oddest Kite.

Carol's Was Prettiest

As for Best Kites, prizes were given in four categories for them.

For kindergarten through the third grade winners were Lee Selvy, Dean Phillips and Skipper Lloyd; in the fourth and fifth grades, Carol Hill and Tom Silvear of the Bay School; sixth and seventh, Rickey Masten and Mary Henderson; and eighth and ninth, Douglas Calley.

San Francisco Society—

Down from San Francisco for the week are Mrs. Henry Marcus and the Misses Patricia Anne Marcus, Harriet Hills and Mary Ellen Cutler.

They are stopping at Lobos Lodge as are also Mrs. Sheldon E. Potter and family, also of San Francisco.

To the Editor

To the Editor of The Pine Cone:

The candidates for the biennial Carmel Derby have qualified and the riders are jockeying for position. It looks as if the race will be a hot one. The finish will prove which are the supposed Thoroughbreds and which the plugs. The entrance cards are in and when past performances of the contestants are adjusted the "bookies" will post odds and give positions.

Unlike most sports events there are three winners. Some think there should be five. The grand prize (the mayoralty) has already been awarded by self-appointed managers. Dropping race track parlance, let us hope that at least one of the successful candidates will have opinions of his own which will end one-man domination of the council.

The responsible voters and residents of Carmel should awaken to the fact they have been "ganged" up on by those who have more interest in perpetuating themselves than in the best interests of the city.

We have the innovation of electing a mayor before the election of the council which is rather a tacit admission the candidates to be elected have no administrative ability. The list of candidates is available at the office of the city clerk. A look at their sponsors will reveal the probable trend of action in the management of city affairs.

Hawaiians Cuss Navy--Wrong One

Mrs. James Cockburn, visiting here recenty, tells this one of the Pearl Harbor attack. She was there.

A citizen of Hawaii was having his breakfast Sunday morning with his wife and children when things started dropping on his roof. Annoyed, he went out to see what-the-heck — and was barely missed by a piece of shrapnel.

His annoyance increased noticeably. The navy is the navy, and maneuvers are maneuvers but this was going too far. He went in to phone headquarters and complain that the war games were becoming too realistic.

He couldn't get headquarters. His wife, fiddling with the radio, had better luck. She got a radio station in Minneapolis which announced that the Japs were bombing the Islands.

Rashelle Doree Will Sing for Quaker Benefit

Music lovers are eagerly anticipating a benefit concert to be given by Rashelle Doree, well known Carmel singer, and June Sanders, pianist, on the afternoon of April 23, at the Louis Hill estate on Pebble Beach Point. The proceeds will be contributed to the American Friends Service Committee of Philadelphia, administered by the Quakers, who are at present carrying on an admirable nutrition program among the children of unoccupied France.

The Quakers have found the way to distribute more than 60,000 francs worth of powdered milk monthly. Milk is furnished to babies, school children, and supplementary meals are given children in concentration camps.

The musical offering, an international song program, will include selections sung in Russian, Spanish, German, Italian, French and English. Visitors will be given an opportunity to stroll through the gardens of the estate, a sight of enchanting beauty at this season of the year.

WAR ECONOMY

Melt in cold milk a package of gelatin. Add enough milk to make a cup, heat and beat into a cup of creamed butter with a pinch of salt to double amount of butter for spreading or to use in baking.

All pot liquor remaining after vegetables have boiled should be saved for soups. When peas have been shelled, the pods can be boiled. With roux and milk added to the liquor so obtained, an excellent cream pea soup can be made. Leaves of celery and otherwise inedible ends of asparagus when boiled make good soup stock, rich in flavor and vitamines.

It saves time to make a quantity of roux at one time and store it for use when needed for thickening soups and gravies. Melt a pound of cooking fat in a heavy skillet. Stir in gradually a pound of flour with a wooden spoon. Cook slowly until a smooth paste is obtained. Store in a closed container. —M. D.
